

Meet Marya Fowler

NWF Rep for Texas

After several years as NWF's education manager for this region, Marya Fowler took on the challenging role of regional representative for Texas, Louisiana, and Missouri so she could be more directly involved in conservation.

After growing up roaming the downs in England's countryside, Marya spent time kayaking and backpacking in Colorado and Wyoming. A strenuous National Outdoor Leadership School survival course in the Wind River Range made her acutely aware of the need to protect wildlife and natural resources.

Marya understands how valuable NWF and its state affiliates like Texas Conservation Alliance can be for each other. Says Marya, "Our affiliates make NWF a really diverse organization, which is critical to our grassroots success."
